

Knowing me, knowing you

Two day introductory course TRANSACTIONAL ANALYSIS

Transactional Analysis (TA) is a model for understanding personality, human development and behavior, communication and relationships.

TA can be applied by anyone, in a variety of situations. It has an underlying ethos of positive regard for self and others, and a belief that everyone can change. This two day workshop is the official introduction course. TA101 is an internationally recognized qualification and you will be awarded with a certificate on completion of the workshop.

The workshop offers material that is relevant to those who work with people; ie, psychotherapists, counselors, educators, coaches, supervisors, consultants, those who work in health, justice, business and other organisations.

This training stands on its own and is also a prerequisite for those wanting to advance to further training.

Tutors:

Marion Wade is a Certified Clinical Transactional Analyst and provisional teaching and supervising member of the International Transactional Analysis Association. She is a counsellor and registered psychotherapist and completed an MSc (Psychotherapy) last year.

Marion's first career was nursing beginning with general care of people before working in mental health and psychiatric nursing. She works with individuals and couples and has experience of helping clients with general life issues, as well as specialist experience with eating disorders and sexual health issues.
